

Credit Suisse Strategic Income Fund

March 31, 2026

Principal Investment Strategies

The fund pursues its investment objective of total return by investing in a broad range of debt instruments. "Strategic" in the fund's name means that the fund seeks both current income and capital appreciation as elements of total return.

In seeking to achieve its investment objective, the fund adjusts its portfolio's exposure amongst the various types of debt instruments based on market conditions and outlook. At any given time, the fund may have a substantial weighting in any one asset class.

The fund's investment adviser and sub-adviser emphasize bottom-up fundamental credit analysis and top-down macroeconomic analysis, combined with a focused relative value approach, and are not constrained by any particular duration or credit quality targets. The fund's allocation among various debt instruments will be made on the basis of the portfolio managers' assessment of opportunities for total return relative to the risk of each type of investment. The fund may also take temporary defensive positions in cash and short-term bonds from time to time.

The fund may invest significantly in below investment grade debt securities and is authorized to invest without limit in these securities. The fund may invest in non-U.S. dollar denominated debt instruments. The fund may utilize foreign currency transactions, including currency options and forward foreign currency contracts, to hedge non-U.S. dollar investments or to establish or adjust exposure to particular foreign securities, markets or currencies, but it is not required to do so. The fund may take short positions in securities or indices and generally will do so by using swaps or futures or by selling a security short.

Risk Considerations:

Below Investment Grade Securities Risk – Below investment grade securities are regarded as being predominantly speculative as to the issuer's ability to make payments of principal and interest. Collateralized Loan Obligations Risk – CLOs are subject to the risk of substantial losses due to actual defaults, decrease of market value due to collateral defaults and disappearance of subordinate tranches, market anticipation of defaults, and investor aversion to CLO securities as a class. Conflict of Interest Risk – Affiliates of Credit Suisse may act as underwriter, lead agent or administrative agent for loans and participate in the secondary market for loans. Convertible Securities Risk – The market value of a convertible security performs like that of a regular debt security; that is, if market interest rates rise, the value of a convertible security usually falls. Credit Risk – The issuer of a security, the borrower of a loan or the counterparty to a contract, including derivatives contracts, may default or otherwise become unable to honor a financial obligations. Derivatives Risk – Derivatives are financial contracts whose value depends on, or is derived from, the value of an underlying asset, instrument or index. Extension Risk – An unexpected rise in interest rates may extend the life of a mortgage-backed security beyond the expected prepayment time, typically reducing the security's value. Foreign Securities Risk – Investing outside the U.S. carries additional risks that include: Currency Risk – Fluctuations in exchange rates between the U.S. dollar and foreign currencies may negatively affect an investment. Information Risk – Key information about an issuer, security or market may be inaccurate or unavailable. Political Risk – Foreign governments may expropriate assets, impose capital or currency controls, impose punitive taxes, or nationalize a company or industry. Futures Contracts Risk – The risks associated with the fund's use of futures contracts include the risk that: (i) changes in the price of a futures contract may not always track the changes in the market value of the underlying reference asset; (ii) trading restrictions or limitations may be imposed by an exchange, and government regulations may restrict trading in futures contracts; and (iii) if the fund has insufficient cash to meet margin requirements, the fund may need to sell other investments, including at disadvantageous times. Hedged Exposure Risk – The fund's hedging activities could multiply losses generated by a derivative used for hedging purposes. Interest Rate Risk – Changes in interest rates may cause a decline in the market value of an investment. Liquidity Risk – Certain portfolio holdings may be difficult or impossible to sell at the time and the price that the fund would like. Market Risk – The market value of an instrument may fluctuate, sometimes rapidly and unpredictably. Mortgage- and Asset-Backed Securities Risks – The value of the fund's mortgage backed securities can fall if the owners of the underlying mortgages pay off their mortgages sooner than expected, which could happen when interest rates fall, or later than expected, which could happen where interest rates rise. Prepayment Risk – In a declining interest rate environment, prepayment of loans and other fixed income instruments with high stated interest rates may increase. Senior Loans Risk – Senior Loans are subject to the risk that a court could subordinate a Senior Loan, which typically holds the most senior position in the issuer's capital structure, to presently existing or future indebtedness or take other action detrimental to the holders of Senior Loans. Short Position Risk – Taking short positions involves leverage of the fund's assets and presents various risks. U.S. Government Securities Risk – Obligations of U.S. Government agencies and authorities are supported by varying degrees of credit but generally are not backed by the full faith and credit of the U.S. Government. Valuation Risk – The lack of an active trading market may make it difficult to obtain an accurate price for an instrument held by the fund. For a detailed discussion of these and other risks, please refer to the fund's Prospectus, which should be read carefully before you invest.
